Council Corner

At Christmas time we celebrate the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ. There are many names that are used to describe our Lord: Prince of Peace, Lamb of God, and King of Kings. The last phrase refers to our Lord's leadership. Webster's Dictionary defines leadership as the quality of character and personality giving a person the ability to gain the confidence and lead others. I found a couple of bible verses that talk of leadership.

“Good leaders abhor wrongdoing of all kinds; sound leadership has a moral foundation.”

Proverbs 16:12

Proverbs 29:4

I believe that leadership is an opportunity to serve; it is not a trumpet call to self importance. Jesus Christ had many qualities that made him a good leader. He was honest, inspiring, intelligent, fair-minded, courageous, and imaginative. Above all these he was a servant. He came to serve man. Through His death on the cross He gave everlasting life to those who believe in Him and ask for forgiveness of their sins.

I've spent four years faithfully serving as Treasurer of Prince of Peace. In that time our church has gone through many changes and milestones: a new mission and vision, a new children's minister, a new parish administrator, a renovation of the sanctuary and Narthex, a demolition of the old house, the mediation sessions, and a fiftieth anniversary. All of these things were put into place by leadership. Prince of Peace has had many exceptional leaders who have guided us through good times and tough times. I am very pleased and thankful that I had the opportunity to serve Prince of Peace these last four years and look forward to continuing that service in whatever capacity I can.

Jon Lentsch, Council Treasurer

Message from Pastor Andrew Rogness

SACRED TRUST VS. ENTITLEMENT

My grandfather was president of Luther College during the years of the Great Depression. He would frequently refuse to take his salary, asking that it be used for other staff salaries. At the same time, my mother, teaching in Chamberlain SD would send home what little she could from her salary to help her parents. It was the dominant ethic of the day. Most everyone pitched in to help each other. It reinforced the notion of personal sacrifice for the common good. This notion continued to shape our country for decades beyond the 30's.

It is this personal story – one repeated in most of our family histories – that explains why many are appalled at the attitude of some who have come to Washington D.C. looking for a handout from the public coffers to bail them out. One CEO of the three troubled American auto companies was asked at a congressional hearing if he would be willing to work for a dollar a day until things had turned around. His response was a flip, “I’m good with where I’m at.” This is coming from a man who is making over $21 million a year. In other words, he places his own extravagant well-being above the well being of his company, its employees, its shareholders, and the thousands of others that depend on this industry. It is an arrogant attitude of entitlement that is rightfully scorned by most of our country’s citizens.

We who are deeply rooted in our Judeo-Christian ethic realize that there is no such thing as entitlement. As we awaken to the knowledge that our status in God’s realm is that we are made in God’s image, that we are children of God, we also learn that this does not entitle us, but rather ennoble us with sacred trust. From the get-go in Genesis we are given the responsibility of stewardship for the good of all creation. Jesus repeatedly underscored that this stewardship is given to be used for the love of God, neighbor and self, with special consideration for those in need. The early church further claimed this high calling reminding us in Hebrews, for example, that we are a royal priesthood. These roles – child of God, steward, priest – are humbly embraced by those who call Jesus Lord. It is not entitlement, but sacred trust. The boards of companies shouldn’t hesitate to remove CEO’s, and the members of our congress shouldn’t hesitate to refuse bailouts to companies, if either don’t understand this fundamental lesson of our faith and fundamental value of our country.

Pastor Andrew Rogness

January Birthdays

Thank you

*Dear Carol,
This election was one for the record books!*

On behalf of the City of Roseville, thank you for the use of your facility on Election Day, and thanks to your staff for our interrupting their day with so much activity. Your support for the City of Roseville and the election process is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely, Carolyn Curti, Elections Coordinator

Pastor Andrew, Pastor Anita, and the Prince of Peace Council and Members,

Greetings and Peace to you,

I want to thank you for your continued monetary support that you are providing me during my Seminary years.

I am currently in Fort Smith, Arkansas, on the Arkansas-Oklahoma border, on my Internship. I am working at St. Luke Lutheran Church in Fort Smith and Faith Lutheran in Booneville, AR. I am enjoying it immensely. My supervisor is only stationed at St. Luke, so I am the only pastoral presence at Faith Lutheran besides a retired pastor who preaches the two Sundays a month that I am not there. So between St. Luke and Faith I preach three times a month on average, keeping me busy.

I am writing you during the first week of December and am in the midst of the “busy season” of the church. I am working on putting together the Children’s Christmas Program at St. Luke and involved with Bell Ringing to raise money for a local charity in Booneville, which ties up most of my Saturdays in Advent.

*Again, thank you for your prayerful support,
Erik Olson*

Greetings from the Music Ministry Coordinator—Milt Warkentien

Another new year is upon us. What will this year bring? Hopefully we are enjoying our remodeled sanctuary when you're reading this. I'm very excited to see the completed project. The amount of hours many people put into this project is incredible. Please take the time to thank the building committee and all those that took time to make this project become a reality.

Musically, there will be a new face among us. Mara Kaufmann will be helping out Melissa Burke with Joyful Noise. Please take the time to make Mara feel welcome.

The music team is excited about the January to May schedule. There will, as usual, be a lot of variety in worship and music. Some dates to make note of are:

- Milt's Benefit Concert - Sat., January 3 at 7:00pm

- Lightshine and the youth leading a "Rock Service" - May 3
- Men's Chorus on Mother's Day - May 10

10:45 – Chancel Choir
- Feb. 1st – "Traditional"
Bells of Peace at both services

As usual, if you haven't heard a hymn you'd like to sing, let me know and we'll try to make sure to use it sometime in the near future. Remember that we try to plan the hymns about a month or two in advance, so it might be a little while before you hear your hymn.

We've had a few good suggestions for the worship service and hymn usage. We'll be trying to incorporate these ideas in the future.

Epiphany

I LOVE Epiphany and all the references to light and darkness. The refrain from my song "There is Light" makes use of this imagery. "In a dark room with just a candle, there is light, and in a world that's filled with darkness, we can be that light." I pray Christ's Light shines brightly from all our lives this year. What a world it could be!!

May God bless us all, Milt

Tammy Wilkinson - Children's Ministry Coordinator

It has been an incredible and busy six months! I say this with much excitement, as much of what I have been doing has involved getting to know everyone much better and planning fun filled activities for all to enjoy. To recap, we jumped right into summer with VBS, Family Camp, and Finding the Way. All I can say is what an amazing time we had and it was a fabulous way to get to know the children and families of Prince of Peace.

Once September rolled around, the Sunday School teachers, Children's Ministry Committee, a whole slew of volunteers, and I have been busy planning a wide variety of activities to engage, excite, and educate our children. Some of these activities have included Alleluia and Joyful Noise choirs, Still Small Voice, Sunday School, and several Intergenerational events. Who could forget the Blessing of Animals, the Children's Christmas Play, eating pancakes while wearing PJ's at church, and much, much more?

Going forward, we have so much planned that it is hard to know where to start. Audrey and I have been busy planning our summer schedules together and everyone should be receiving their copy of our new summer brochure before the end of this month. Some of the upcoming activities for Children's Ministry are similar to last summer's, but with some different fun-filled components. We will continue with VBS, Family Camp, and Finding the Way. However, we are also teaming up with Vibe and inviting the children of Prince of Peace to attend day camp at Bay Lake this year. Audrey and I will also be putting together a variety of activities to bridge 6-8th graders with Jr. & Sr. high. We are excited about these opportunities for the kids and look forward to planning even more events.

So there you have it, a sneak preview of what's to come for the upcoming year. Watch for your summer programming and registration brochure in the mail. As always, feel free to contact either me or Audrey with any questions you may have about the upcoming programming.

Happy New Year!
Tammy

Calendar

Wed., Dec. 31, New Year's Eve, No Wednesday Evening Activities

Sunday, Jan. 4, Sunday School resumes.

Wed., Jan. 7, Wednesday activities resume.

Children's Christmas Play

Thank you to everyone for all of your help with the Children's Christmas Play.

Also, thank you to the bakers who baked all the yummy cookies for the reception.

Thoughts from Audrey

As I write these words, the feeling of the Christmas season is in the air. The ground is covered with snow. Christmas carols are playing on the radio and Christmas specials are on TV. By the time you read this, the radio will no longer be playing Christmas carols and no specials will be on TV, even though the Christmas season begins on Christmas Day.

Our youth will be back in school soon. I remember as a child I hated the first few days back. I hated the number of times I had to answer the question, “What did you get for Christmas?” or “What was your favorite Christmas memory?” For some, Christmas is a painful time of year. This may be the first Christmas without a loved one, without job security, or without financial security.

As we celebrate God’s arrival among us, let us remember that for some of us identifying God’s blessings in our lives may be more difficult. Each of us has been called to be “Jesus with skin on” for those around us—a stranger, a neighbor, a co-worker, a friend, a classmate, or family member. Let us be a listening ear, a comforting word, a shoulder to cry on, or a hug. Let us share a cup of tea or a coke, a meal, an afternoon or an evening, share a story or memory. Let us be compassionate to one another. Let us love as God has loved us.

Social Concerns

Minnesota's Economy Leaves Food Shelves Scrambling

Thank you to all who have been making donations to our local food shelf on Communion Sundays.

What the food shelf needs most right now are staple items including cold cereal, canned tuna or chicken, canned or dried fruit, peanut butter, applesauce, pastas, canned stewed or chopped tomatoes, toilet paper, Kleenex, soaps, and of course, cash donations. Cash is used to buy fresh fruits and vegetables and dairy products and is very important as your dollars will be stretched.

Thank you for your Thanksgiving gifts of $1732. Additional gifts have been given for a total of $1385.60 for our local food shelf and $1866 to ELCA World Hunger.

Children's Hats

If you were at worship on Nov. 30 you saw the 100 knit and crocheted hats made by Prince of Peace women and some of their friends. They were delivered to Southside Family Nurturing Center, New Hope Women's Center, Women's Advocates, Plymouth Christian Youth Center, and to the Chinese Hospitality Center. If you wish to work with this Tuesday afternoon needlework group, contact Ardella Norenberg at 631-2705.
